PREFACE

AT the present time, when there is such a general demand for meatless recipes, it seems good to offer to the public a Cook Book compiled from recipes by practical cooks who for many years have made a study of meatless dishes.

For more than twenty years there has been an increasing tendency toward the eating of less meat, especially among those who have become interested in the new spiritual movements which lead the mind away from the materialistic view of life. When a change to a meatless diet is contemplated, the average housewife is at a loss to know what to cook. This problem has been satisfactorily solved. Nearly one hundred recipes will be found under "Meat Substitutes and Entrees," the result of the experience of those who have for many years successfully maintained a meatless diet. When properly prepared, these dishes will fully take the place of the meat course. They will be found to be both appetizing and nutritious. After becoming accustomed to this new diet the average person will not willingly return to the old.

In one of the sanitoriums, or rest homes, which have come forth in the development of modern Christian healing, a practically meatless diet has been maintained for several years. Numerous recipes were originated in the course of the work. The demand for these recipes from the guests at the House of Rest in San Jose, California, was the inspiration for a printed Cook Book. In developing the idea numerous sources were drawn upon, for the most part housewives and a number of the California Homes of Truth, in which the art of cooking without meat has long been practiced.

The first idea was to publish a Cook Book to supply the demand among Truth Students, but when the country found it necessary to conserve the food supply and meat substitutes became a necessity at every table in the land, the plan was broadened to include not only Truth students but all who might be interested in a MODERN MEATLESS COOK BOOK. Helpful suggestions to housewives who wish to comply with the requirements of the Conservation Committee concerning the making of bread without the exclusive use of white flour have also been given.

We thank the friends who have so willingly contributed their choicest recipes for this Cook Book.

BROSIA MEALS

Brosia Meals are of three varieties, Bean Brosia, Pease Brosia, and Lentil Brosia. They are made by steam cooking the beans, pease or lentils, freeing them from hulls and grinding. They are rich in protein. While beefsteak contains 20.3% of protein, Lentil Brosia contains 25.7%, Bean Brosia 22.5%, and Pease Brosia 24.6%. One pound of the meal is equal to two of the lentils, pease or beans. Brosia Meals may be obtained from The House of Rest, 236 N. 6th St., San Jose, Cal.

VEGEX

Vegex is a pure vegetable extract having a distinctive and delicious flavor. It is manufactured abroad, and was brought to this country by a prominent vegetarian. Vegex has been analyzed by Professor Allyn of Westfield Board of Health; a sample is taken from each importation and analyzed by the United States Pure Food Department. Vegex is made in the form of a dark brown paste but contains no artificial coloring. It is put up in screw-top jars of convenient size and will keep practically any length of time. In many of the recipes in this book Vegex is given as a flavoring for soups, sauces, gravies and stews. May be obtained from local grocer.

VEGETARIAN SOUP STOCK

A great variety of palatable and nutritious soups may be made without meat by using as a foundation the water in which rice, macaroni, or vegetables have been cooked. The water from carrots, turnips and spinach is not suitable for this purpose, but may be used for flavoring. Much depends upon the ingenuity of the cook in combining left over tidbits. The seasoning of the soup is an important part, for a change in seasoning lends variety to otherwise plain soups. There are several excellent vegetable extracts, such as Vegex and Kitchen Bouquet. Vegex is used in many of the recipes in this book and is treated in a separate article. Seasoning such as bay leaf, thyme, celery salt, poultry seasoning, and onion salt should be kept on hand. It is best, however, not to use more than two or three of these at one time. Olive oil is an addition to soups made with water, but care must be taken to boil it well into the soup. Brosia meals, which are also mentioned in a separate article, are excellent for vegetarian soups.

Pare the scorched outside from peppers with a small sharp knife, and cut off stem and remove the seeds and wash the inside.

in thoroughly. Stuff the peppers with the above mixture. Close opening in peppers with two toot-picks at right angles.

CHAPTER V.

VEGETABLES

BAKED SUMMER SQUASH

Cut stem ends off squash and scoop centers. Boil removed portion, with a small onion, in water until tender. Drain and add seasoning of salt, pepper and butter. Fill shells, cover with buttered bread crumbs. Put in pan with a little water in bottom and bake one hour.

BAKED SUMMER SQUASH WITH PIMENTOS

½ dozen summer squash	2 tablespoons flour
1 small can pimentos	Salt
2 tablespoons butter

Pare, wash, slice summer squash, put into a buttered baking dish in layers. Season each layer with chopped pimentos and bits of butter and flour mixed together. Bake in moderate oven one hour.

FRIED SUMMER SQUASH

Peel Italian summer squash, slice one-half inch thick, fry in enough fat to keep from sticking. In serving, dot with butter.

BAKED HUBBARD SQUASH NO. 1

Cut squash in medium sized pieces and boil in shell for twenty minutes. Remove from shell, mash, season with salt, pepper, plenty of butter, bake for half an hour.

BAKED HUBBARD SQUASH NO. 2

Cut squash in five inch squares, sprinkle lightly with sugar, dot with butter, bake until tender and serve in the shell in large platter.

BROWN CREAMED POTATOES

Slice cold potatoes in frying pan, put a large lump of butter in the center, sprinkle flour, salt, pepper over the top, pour in milk until the potatoes begin to float, then chop up potatoes with a chopping knife while they are heating. Place in oven until done.

BUTTERED BOILED RICE

Wash one-half cup rice in running water, stirring vigorously with the hand to free it from any of its flour. This will aid in preventing it from being sticky when cooked. This quantity of rice should be cooked in a quart kettle. Add scant cup cold water and a little salt. Put the cover on tight and set on fire. In about ten or fifteen minutes it will begin to boil over. Do not lift the lid but allow it to boil over, until the lid no longer trembles. Then set further back on stove, where it can steam and keep very hot, without boiling, for forty-five minutes. At the end of the first hour the rice should look dry and be separate. Add enough rich milk to cover it. Cover and set over moderate fire and bring to a gentle boil for several minutes. Slide to back of stove as before, placing asbestos mat under it. Let remain forty-five minutes. The kernels should by this time be very large. Set into double boiler or pan of hot water where it can mellow, and keep hot until ready to serve. Serve buttered, in a hot covered dish.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES

Candied sweet potatoes are very popular on southern tables, and are extremely palatable when well prepared. Cut boiled sweet potatoes into long slices, place in an earthen dish, put lumps of butter on each slice, and sprinkle with sugar. Some cooks add a little water also. Bake until sugar and butter have candied and the potatoes are brown.

CARROTS SUPREME

Cut the tops off of young table carrots but do not cut into the carrots in doing so. Boil until tender, adding a piece of onion and several sprigs of parsley to flavor. Boil in a large quantity of water, the same as when boiling beets. If the carrots are not tough and woody, and have cooked long enough, the skins can easily be washed off in running water. Cut in thin slices, season with butter or cream gravy. Set aside to "mellow" over hot water, for ten minutes. Never allow them to boil after seasoning or cream gravy has been added.

Carrots cooked this way are delicious and when cold make a nice salad served in a nest of lettuce leaves, with mayonnaise.

CELERY ROOT MASHED

Peel celery root, cut into small pieces, boil three-quarters of an hour, drain, saving water for soup, mash as you would turnips, season with salt, pepper and butter.

CREAMED CELERY ROOT

Peel celery root, cut into cubes, boil three-quarters of an hour, drain and season. Serve with White Sauce.

CORN ON COB NO. 1

Prepare corn. Drop into kettle of boiling water and cook ten minutes. If only a few ears are cooked at a time, the temperature of water is but slightly lowered, and corn will cook in eight minutes. If a larger number, the temperature of water is lowered in proportion and time of cooking must be increased. When possible cook corn in plenty of water.

CORN ON COB NO. 2

Prepare corn and put in cold water to which a tablespoon of vinegar has been added and let come to a boil. Serve in a napkin, on platter.

BOILED CORN ON COB NO. 3

Prepare corn, pour over boiling water to which one cup of milk has been added, and place in fireless cooker for half an hour.

CORN ON COB NO. 4

Cover the corn with cold water and let it come to the boiling point slowly. Remove from fire and allow to stand in hot water ten minutes, before serving. Boiling makes green corn tough and yellow. A little milk added to the water makes the corn white and sweet.

CREAMED ONIONS

| 2 tablespoons melted butter | Salt        |

Cut onions into quarters, boil an hour or more until tender. Melt butter in saucepan, sift in flour, add milk, stir until smooth, add salt. Pour over onions and serve.

CREAMED POTATOES

| 1 pint milk         | Salt                  |
| 3 tablespoons flour | Cold potatoes, sliced |

Slice cold potatoes, put in baking dish. Place milk in another pan on stove, thicken with flour previously mixed with cold water, add pepper, salt and butter. When cooked sufficiently, pour over potatoes, sprinkle bread crumbs over top and bake in oven about fifteen minutes.

FLEMISH CARROTS

Peel beets, cut into small pieces and cook. Mix sugar, corn starch and vinegar. Pour over beets and let stand on back of stove for one-half hour. Just before serving add one-half tablespoon butter.

RICE

Wash rice thoroughly, rubbing with the hands to free it from its flour. Cover with plenty of boiling water, salt and cook until soft. Drain in colander, saving water for soup, bread, or other uses. Place rice in oven until time to serve. Grains should be large and separated.

With sharp knife cut through center of each row of grains, and then scrape from cob. Put corn into saucepan, season with salt, pepper and butter, add enough hot milk to moisten well, and cook ten minutes.

| 1 teaspoon salt           |                                    |

Melt butter in double-boiler. Beat egg with Dover beater. add vinegar, salt, sugar, mustard and paprika. Stir into melted butter. When thickened to consistency of cream, remove at once from fire. When cold, oil may be beaten in if desired.

COOKED SALAD DRESSING

- |                                 |                                 |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 tablespoon butter             | 1 teaspoon sugar                |
| 2 scant teaspoons mustard (dry) | $\frac{3}{8}$ cup cider vinegar |
| 2 teaspoons flour               | 1 cup milk                      |
| 1 teaspoon salt                 | 2 eggs, well beaten             |
|                                 | Red and black pepper            |

Mix dry ingredients and scald with enough hot water to make a thick paste. Stir in beaten eggs and butter, and pour vinegar in slowly, stirring all the time, to prevent curdling. Add milk, boil in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. When ready to use this may be thinned by adding cream. A splendid dressing for cabbage or other salads if one does not care for mayonnaise.

CREAM SALAD DRESSING

- |                                 |                       |

| $\frac{1}{2}$ cup tomato catsup | 2 tablespoons sugar   |
| 2 tablespoons olive oil         | 1 teaspoon salt       |

Mix oil, salt, sugar and vinegar, beat in catsup and finally add cream, beating it in gradually.

This dressing is very good for vegetables or fish salads.

CREAM SLAW DRESSING

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup vinegar	8 tablespoons sugar

FRENCH DRESSING

1 tablespoon vinegar	$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons olive oil	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper

Put the salt and pepper into salad bowl. Add a little oil and stir well, then gradually add the remainder of oil, stirring all the while. Last of all, stir in the vinegar, which should be diluted with water if very strong. This may be used on lettuce, cooked asparagus, cauliflower, artichokes, etc.

Beat yolk of egg and drop in salad oil, one or two drops at a time, until dressing begins to thicken, then drop in lemon juice or vinegar, a little at a time, while continuing to drop in the oil. After the mayonnaise begins to thicken the oil may be added in larger quantities. Should substance separate, it will be necessary to begin over. The separated dressing may be dropped into the new after the latter begins to thicken. Beat with egg-beater or cooking-spoon. When sufficient quantity is made, put in white of egg and beat in well. Pepper and paprika may be used.

SALAD DRESSING FOR CABBAGE

$\frac{1}{3}$ cup butter	1 teaspoon salt
$\frac{3}{4}$ cup vinegar	1 teaspoon mustard

CHAPTER XII.

PRUNES

JUST A WORD ABOUT PRUNES

The right prunes cooked right are delicious. They are more than fruit; they make the best breakfast food in the world. Santa Clara Valley residents, of all communities, have absolutely the best deciduous green fruits, berries and melons at their command; yet a large proportion eat prunes with cream every morning in the year. In pies, cakes, souffles, and fifty other ways, prunes make a tooth-some article of diet. A cook book from Santa Clara Valley would be incomplete without a prune department.

BABY'S EVENING MEAL

Press through a sieve six or eight prunes with juice. Add to pulp a couple of tablespoons of cream. Serve with a slice of toasted whole wheat bread or unsweetened graham or other wafer and a glass of milk.

BAKED PRUNE DUMPLINGS

2 cups sifted flour	Walnuts
2 tablespoons crisco	Water to mix
$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt	Stewed prunes
2 teaspoons baking powder

Make paste, roll out, and cut in five-inch squares, one-fourth inch thick. Pit prunes, stuff with half walnuts. Place six in each square of paste. Sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter. Pinch squares together, brush with white of egg and cover with granulated sugar. Bake in moderate oven. Serve with cream or hot sauce.

BAKED PRUNES

Cover a quart of prunes with boiling water and bring to a boil quickly in a covered kettle. Boil steadily for twenty minutes. Then remove cover and simmer till about one-half cup of liquid is left. Add lemon juice to flavor and simmer a little longer. Turn the contents of the kettle on a large granite pie plate; it should hold the prunes in one compact layer; cover with another plate and bake in a moderate oven until nearly all the juice has disappeared. Turn each prune with the tine of a fork and return uncovered to a slow oven, if too hot the door may be left open. Allow to remain a few minutes until they are glossy but not dry. The prunes should be rather firm when done but not hard, care being taken not to blister them. Put away in a covered dish and serve with cream or crisp walnuts.

EDEN VALE PRUNE WHIP

1 pint stewed prunes	6 egg whites
$\frac{1}{3}$ pint thick cream	Raspberry or loganberry jelly

Drain prunes thoroughly, pit them and rub through colander; avoid rubbing the skins through as much as possible. Beat the whites of eggs to a stiff froth; then by degrees beat this into sifted prunes. If not sweet enough to suit taste, add a tablespoon of sugar. The delicacy of this dish depends largely upon the thoroughness with which the ingredients are beaten together. When well beaten, pour into glass dish. Whip cream and spread evenly over top of pudding. Then fleck the whipped cream with bits of jelly. Serve with cream or if preferred with a custard made from the yolks of six eggs.

PRUNE BREAD

$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups white flour	$1\frac{3}{4}$ cups thick sour milk
$1\frac{1}{2}$ cups fine graham flour	$\frac{1}{2}$ cup molasses
2 rounding tablespoons white or brown sugar	1 teaspoon soda, a trifle more than level
1 level tablespoon salt	1 heaping cup stewed prunes

Remove pits from prunes and cut them up in the cup with a knife. Mix them thoroughly into the milk, soda and molasses. Add dry ingredients, which have been mixed together; beat well. Bake in two or three round loaves in moderate oven about forty minutes, watching carefully towards the last as it burns easily. The bread is improved by baking in small heavy earthenware pudding dishes or in small steel skillets.

PRUNE LAYER CAKE

2 cups sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup butter	1 teaspoon powdered mace
3 eggs	1 cup chopped walnuts
⅔ cup sweet milk	1 cup steamed prunes

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs, milk, flour previously sifted with baking powder and mace. Line cake pan with buttered paper, fill in a layer of cake batter, spread a layer of chopped prunes over this, then a layer of nuts. Repeat until pan is two-thirds full. Bake in a steady, but not quick, oven.

PRUNE PUDDING NO. 1

3 tablespoons sugar	1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons butter	1½ cups chopped prunes
1 egg	Salt
1 large cup buttermilk	Nutmeg
1½ cups flour

Cream butter and sugar, stir in egg, add buttermilk, soda dissolved in a little warm water, chopped prunes, flour, salt, nutmeg. Fill baking powder cans two-thirds full, steam three hours. Serve with vanilla sauce.

PRUNE PUDDING NO. 2

Crumbled bread	Butter
Chopped stewed prunes	1 cup chopped walnuts

Put a layer of broken bread into a baking-dish, then a layer of chopped prunes and bits of butter, repeat till you have quantity desired. Pour prune juice over pudding and add chopped walnuts as final layer. Bake twenty minutes in moderate oven. Serve with hard sauce.

PRUNE PUDDING NO. 3

1 quart stewed prunes	4 tablespoons sugar
4 eggs

Beat whites of eggs very stiff, add the sugar gradually, then the prunes, pitted and chopped. Turn into buttered dish and bake fifteen minutes. Serve with cream.

PRUNE SOUFFLE

1 cup stewed prunes                      ½ cup sugar
3 eggs (whites)

Remove pits from prunes and chop fine. Add whites of eggs and sugar beaten to a stiff froth. Mix well, turn into a buttered dish and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream.

STEWED PRUNES NO. 1

Cleanse thoroughly, soak in water ten or twelve hours, adding a little granulated sugar when putting to soak; for although the fruit is sweet enough, experience has shown that the added sugar changes by chemical process into fruit sugar and brings out better the flavor of the fruit. After soaking, the fruit will assume its full size, and is ready to be "simmered" on back of stove. Do not "boil" prunes, that is what "spoil" prunes. Simmer only. Keep lid on. Shake gently, do not stir. When tender are ready for table. Serve cold. Added just before simmering, a little sliced lemon or orange gives a rich color and flavor to syrup.

STEWED PRUNES NO. 2

Wash prunes, cover with hot water, let stand until water is cool, drain, cover two inches above top of prunes with hot water, bring quickly to a boil. Set on back of stove and simmer till water is boiled down about one-half. When soft, add a little sugar. Some prunes require no sugar cooked in this way.

STEAMED PRUNES

Steam until the fruit is swollen to its original size and is tender. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and squeeze lemon juice over them.

STUFFED PRUNE PIE

Two cups flour, three tablespoons crisco, one-half teaspoon salt, enough ice or cold water to mix so there are dry flour flakes left in bowl. Cover pie tin with crust. Fill with cooked prunes, pitted and stuffed with nut meats; cover with prune juice; dash of cinnamon if desired. Bake and then cover with meringue made of white of two eggs beaten stiff, add three tablespoons sugar; brown in oven. Delicious with whipped cream instead of meringue.

STUFFED PRUNES

Wash choice prunes several times in boiling water. Steam half an hour or until pliable. Remove pits with the point of a sharp paring knife. Stuff with walnut kernels and roll in powdered sugar.

Stuffed prunes are more delicious when eaten the same day as the walnuts soon lose their crispness, owing to the moisture of the prunes.

|--|-----------------------------|
| 1 cake Fleischman's yeast                    | $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar     |
| $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups milk, scalded and cooled | 3 tablespoons butter        |
| 1 tablespoon sugar                           | $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon mace |
| $4\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted flour             | 2 eggs                      |
|  | $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt |

Dissolve yeast and one tablespoon sugar in luke warm water, add half of the flour and beat well, cover and let rise in warm place for about an hour or until bubbles burst on top. Add to this the butter and sugar creamed, mace, eggs well beaten, the remainder of the flour to make soft dough, and lastly the salt. Knead lightly. Place in well greased bowl, cover and allow to rise again in warm place for about one and one-half hours. When light, turn on floured board, roll to about one-fourth inch in thickness, cut with small doughnut-cutter, cover and let rise again, on floured board, in warm place until light, about forty-five minutes will be required. Drop into deep hot fat with side uppermost which has been next to board. When a film of smoke begins to rise from fat it will be found to be the right temperature in which to cook doughnuts. Doughnuts made in this way do not absorb the fat because they rise before and not after they are put into the grease.

JUNO MATÉ

Maté, or Paraguay Tea, consists of the dried leaves of an evergreen shrub or small tree which grows in Paraguay and southern Brazil. It appears to have been used from time immemorial by the Indians, but first cultivated by the Jesuits. The names Jesuit's tea, tea of the Missions, St. Bartholomew's tea, etc., have been applied to it. Since the beginning of the 17th century Maté has been used by all classes in Paraguay and is now used throughout Brazil and neighboring countries. It contains definitely less caffeine, as prepared for drinking, than tea or coffee, and is also less astringent, making it a more desirable beverage. It is usually carried by the Sanitarium Health Food Store, 1176 Market Street, San Francisco.

CHAPTER XXII.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Left-over bread, toast or biscuits should be thoroughly dried in warm oven, put through grinder and placed in glass jars. No bread need be wasted, as there are many uses for it in puddings, nut loaves, pancakes, gems, etc. A small top oven used on a gas range is a good receptacle for the pan of dry bread until the collection is large enough to grind and put away.

Water in which rice, potatoes and many other vegetables have been cooked should be saved for soups. It is surprising what a variety of nutritious soups may be made by using thought and originality in combining left-overs.

When food is scorched in cooking take the cover off and place the kettle immediately in a pan of cold water. After a few moments, put the food into a clean kettle and finish cooking. You will find that the scorched taste has been removed.

Should boiled custard "whey" in cooking, beat rapidly with a Dover egg-beater just before taking from the stove. This will make it smooth again, but somewhat thinner.

To prevent the "scum" from rising on cocoa or chocolate, beat with Dover egg-beater just before taking it from the fire.

The right proportion of soda to use with sour milk is one level teaspoonful to two cups of milk. If molasses is used, more soda is required.

When cooking onions, cabbage or fish, set a tin cup of vinegar on the stove and keep it boiling. This takes away all odors.

To prevent mush from boiling over, grease the edge of the kettle on the inside, down about two inches.

It is well to keep on hand in summer a good supply of paper napkins to use when fruit is served. This saves the linen napkins from becoming stained.

A small steel knitting needle kept in the pantry drawer is much more sanitary for trying cakes, etc., than the old-fashioned broom straw. It is also better than a fork for trying vegetables, as it does not break them into pieces.

Empty paste jars which have the well for the brush in the center make excellent dishes to place inside vases or jars, to hold flowers in place.

It is more convenient to use a pitcher in pouring pancake batter on a griddle than to dip it with a spoon.

In making sandwiches, spread soft butter on the end of the loaf before slicing.

Formula for cranberry jam: One-half as much sugar as cranberries, one-half as much water as sugar.
